*Where there is darkness
the light will come in time—
perhaps slowly in the beginning
but always with certitude—
a hesitant but precise awakening.*

*And where there is to be light
how much brighter the dawn will come within the confines of a campus
where the darkened mind
can seek light of intellectual aura.*

*The mind, imprisoned so to speak, in a darkened cave, hearkens toward the light at its portals.
Emerging from the cave, it steps forth
into the soft light of the campus.*

It is in this atmosphere that the dark begins to fade. And in the strong mid-day light it passes more decisively, ever discarding its gray and black coats of confusion.

*The release of an intellect
Begins its surge in shadow,
Appearing from the depths
Toward the proffered light
Of a college.*

Fundamental Theology . . . the required freshman theology course.

Introduction to Music . . . offered to all non-music students.

English Composition . . . required of candidates for all degrees.

Dance . . . a physical education course for all students.

*As the children born into darkness are these,
Whose opening minds,
As much the things of God's creation
As those more fully enlightened,
Do forsake the darkness
That they may come to light.*

College Mathematics . . . one course in mathematics is essential for all students.

*It is maturity that most closely approaches perfection.
But true perfection is not the maturity of appearances,
It is that of the inner being.*

Physics . . . a basic course in the Mathematics and the Natural Science Concentrations.

Theory . . . requisite for all music students.

Marian Library

The Christmas Offertory Procession . . . food for the less fortunate.

And it is so

That the creatures of the light do frolic,

As they do labor.

Thus, where completeness of being is sought,

Laughter and recreation

Are part of the intellectual growth

And emergence from shadow.

The Little Bridge . . . at Fatima Lake.

The Senior (right) aids the Freshman (left) . . . or vice versa.

*Following blackest night
Is always the soft dawn light,
Enveloping all earthly objects
In a misty aura of enlightenment.
And in this most delicate of atmospheres
The children coming from the darkness thrive.*

Julie Bondanza and Juliann Cleary in Speaking of Murder.

The Dinking Ceremony . . . its epilogue.

The Bookstore

Field Day . . . the freshman skit.

A chat . . . between classes.

Speaking of Murder . . . Juliann Cleary and Douglas Herman.

Day is delivered from unseen hands:

Dim, then bright, then full.

Day is the light of the darkened thought,

Which hearkens to its beams.

SOPHOMORES

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS. Margaret Drake, Secretary; Christine Napier, Treasurer; Helen Habermehl, President; Maureen Connolly, Vice President.

Introduction to Art . . . recommended for all students.

Morning

Is an early light

Fresh

In its new awakening.

Liturgy . . . the required sophomore theology course.

Morning

Is a gentle light,

Fondling the tender shoots

That were sown in darkness.

World Literature . . . English course for both B.A. and B.S. candidates.

Analytic Geometry . . . for second-year students in the Mathematics Concentration.

Principles of Secondary Education . . . required of students planning to teach in secondary schools.

Advanced Typewriting . . . one of the required courses for those in Secretarial Science.

History of Music . . . for students earning a B.A. degree in Music.

*Taller the stem,
Longer the tendrils
That reach toward fullness of being.*

Zoology . . . an essential course of the Biology Concentration.

Water Color . . . a correlating course for art students.

Daeman Hall . . . its backyard

*Development,
Fostered by stronger light
Than slumbering petals know,
Is guided too
By those enlightened
In the fullness of yesterday's light.*

*En route to Washington, D.C.
. . . courtesy of Sodality.*

"Music to study by"

*Visiting Annapolis . . . again,
courtesy of Sodality.*

The Chapel . . . within Duns Scotus Hall.

*The hours for sleeping pass,
Dark is now replaced
And drowsiness dispelled
As bright noon approaches.*

Dormitory Residents . . . of Campus Manor Apartments.

Dormitory Life . . . a view from within.

The Play

But first, rehearsal . . .

Mid-day is a going-over

To the side of light:

Positive in its bright assertion.

. . . And more rehearsal.

*Toward noonday's sun
The petals turn,
And open.
The children of darkness
Advance into the light.*
